Schools suspended, borders closed, gatherings banned as gov't responds to continued

Prime Minister Omar Razzaz announced on Saturday a set of new measures taken by the government to address the global outbreak of the novel coronavirus "in light of rapid global developments and with the aim of protecting the homeland and citizens". In a press statement, the government announced that all educational institutions, including kindergartens, nurseries, schools, universities, colleges, training institutions and institutes, are to be closed as of Sunday, March 15, for a period of two weeks. The Education Ministry will also start implementing its distance learning plan through national TV channels starting this week and through the Ministry's e-learning site next week. Educational directors are tasked with arranging the working hours of the Ministry of Education's employees according to the instructions issued. All flights to and from the Kingdom will be suspended starting on Tuesday, March 17, until further notice. The decision excludes commercial traffic, according to the announcement. This measure comes in addition to previous announcements suspending flights to and from countries including France, Germany and Spain as of Monday, March 16. Jordan and Egypt have also agreed to suspend flights between the two countries as of Monday, March 16, Minister of State for Media Affairs Amjad Adaileh announced on Friday.

Oil rebounds, but still heads for biggest weekly loss in years

Oil prices swung more than six per cent on Friday, but were still on track for their biggest weekly loss in more than a decade. In another day of volatile trading, both main contracts initially dipped more than two per cent, tracking heavy falls across global markets that have suffered some of their biggest losses in years. But the commodity abruptly changed course in Asian afternoon trade, with West Texas Intermediate rising four per cent to $33 a barrel and Brent crude up 3.9 per cent at $34.50. The much-needed rally came after the US military launched air strikes in crude-rich Iraq and stocks rebounded, with Asian bourses pulling back from early lows and European equities surging at the open. Nevertheless, prices of US benchmark WTI were still down more than 20 per cent and on course for their biggest weekly drop since the global financial crisis of 2008. Brent, the global benchmark, is down about a quarter for the week, Bloomberg News reported. Crude markets were plunged into turmoil on Monday after top exporter Saudi Arabia sparked a price war with Russia over a row about slashing output. That sent Brent and WTI through the floor, with both falling by a third.
