Gov't concludes negotiations for $1.6b in foreign aid

The government has concluded negotiations to obtain new foreign assistance worth $1.6 billion (JD1.16 billion), to be signed in July and August, Minister of Planning and International Cooperation Wissam Rabadi announced on Monday. The minister, in a statement to the Jordan News Agency, Petra, said that the new grants committed to Jordan up to mid-June amount to $80 million, while the value of soft loans reached $220 million during the same period, including aid to counter the repercussions of the coronavirus pandemic. According to Rabadi, the Kingdom is expected to receive JD2.5 billion in foreign assistance, grants and soft loans in 2020. The committed foreign aid, to date, has been distributed to finance priority development projects, including in the water, sanitation, education, transport, environment and youth sectors, in addition to supporting the health sector in combatting the pandemic.

King calls for promoting Jordan as medical tourism destination

His Majesty King Abdullah on Monday stressed the need to promote Jordan as a medical tourism destination to boost the economy. Chairing a meeting at Al Husseinia Palace on the government's plan for medical tourism, King Abdullah said all stakeholders must cooperate to facilitate the arrival of patients, while maintaining the highest standards of public health and safety to ensure the epidemiological situation in Jordan remains stable, according to a Royal Court statement. During the meeting, attended by Prime Minister Omar Razzaz, His Majesty urged capitalising on Jordan's success in controlling the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) pandemic. Tourism Minister Majd Shweikeh outlined the medical tourism plan to receive Arab and foreign patients, and the measures in place to facilitate arrival and departure.
